

POWERS CAN AGREE, STALIN THINKS

ARABS LAUNCH
U.N. CAMPAIGN
ON PALESTINEFULL DEBATE ON TOUCHY ISSUE
DEMANDED

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

New York, April 28. (P)—The Arabs opened a power drive tonight for full debate on the whole Palestine question in the first special session of the United Nations assembly.

Syria's Faris El Khoury declared after the assembly had completed its organization of leaders that the 55 nations must hear everything about the Palestine issue before they can set up an inquiry group as asked by Britain. He said most of the delegates were not fully informed on the issue and that it was necessary to have a free and complete debate.

This demand almost certainly will be opposed by the United States and Great Britain. Both have insisted this session must be confined to the mechanics of setting up an inquiry committee.

The fireworks will pop at the initial meeting of the general (steering) committee scheduled for 10 a. m. (C. D. T.) tomorrow at the assembly's headquarters in Flushing Meadows.

The steering committee's session was postponed from today at the suggestion of Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, who felt that two plenary meetings and the elections were enough business for one day.

Other U. N. Development: 1. The military staff committee completed its report to the general council, with the members reported still in disagreement on major sections of that long-awaited document.

2. The security council arranged to meet Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. (C. D. T.) at Flushing Meadows with the topic likely to be Hungary's letter asking admission to the United Nations.

No discussion was evident in the show of harmony attending the opening of the special assembly.

The elections followed the big five's slate with the exception of Ecuador substituting for Colombia by agreement on one vice-presidency and Honduras standing in for Mexico on the legal committee chairmanship after the Mexican delegate, Luis Padilla Nervo, said he was too busy to take on added duties.

Snapping along at a fast pace without faltering, the assembly named Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, former foreign minister of Brazil and a firm believer in the Pan-American union, as its president. He received 45 votes of 54 cast on the first secret ballot.

Next the assembly elected the following vice presidents, also on the first ballot:

France and United States, 49 votes each; United Kingdom, 47; China, 45; Russia, 44; Ecuador, 43; and India, 37.

Precautions had been taken against any disorders. However, squads of New York and United Nations police standing quietly at their stations found little to do as the delegates and visitors filed in to the blue and gold chamber.

Cities And Townships
May Lose $16,000,000
In Budget Balancing

Lansing, Mich., April 28 (P)—The House of Representatives, by thumping votes, tonight approved and sent to the Senate legislation which would recapture an estimated $16,000,000 from local governments to bolster the faltering state treasury.

Principal debate centered about a measure proposing the recapture of one-half of the intangible property taxes for state purposes. The bill passed 62 to 20. This measure is expected to bring nearly $3,500,000 to the state.

A bill continuing the 10 per cent liquor tax and returning all of its revenues to the state, amounting to some $12,000,000, was adopted 66 to 15.

Reduction of Detroit's share of the racing tax from one-third to 20 per cent, bringing more than $500,000 to the state, passed the House 70 to 11.

Part of the House taxation committee's budget-balancing program, the bill, if adopted, would reduce city, village and township governments' benefits from the sales tax diversion by more than two-thirds. Diversion benefits to local units have been estimated at $26,000,000.

Taxation Chairman Elton R. Eaton, led a long, hard fight for the intangible tax measure, contending that it was a "fair distribution to leave half of this money with the local units."

Bitter opposition came principally from Flint, Grand Rapids and Detroit representatives, who contended that their local units were "counting on this intangible tax money for their current budget," and that the tax, originally a local personal property levy, "belongs to the cities in the first place."

Eaton lost his battle to recapture the racing money immediately. He contended that this year's race meet at Detroit "will be over before this bill goes into effect, 30 days after the session ends."

The Little community property bill passed its first debate in the Senate but was held for at least one minor amendment tomorrow. Prospects are it will be approved by the upper chamber Wednesday.

The sponsor, Sen. Harry F. Hitt, East Lansing Republican, asserted his bill would "eradicate a glaring discrimination between the people of Michigan and those in eleven other states and the territory of Hawaii, which have community property laws."

The bill gives a husband and wife joint ownership of earned income and permits either to agree on common ownership of business or real estate so that their common income may be divided equally for federal income tax purposes.

PRICES SLASHED
IN HAMTRAMCKDetroit Suburb Takes Lead, Brings Out Big Shopping Crowds

Detroit, April 28 (P)—Suburban Hamtramck took the lead in Michigan today in adopting Newburyport's price-cutting plan as shoppers showed other cities in the state only lukewarm to the drive for a 10 per cent slash in retail prices.

Ostego, Mich., was the only other community in the state to report enthusiastic backing of the campaign although a few scattered merchants and manufacturers took the opportunity to climb on the bandwagon with announcements of price cuts.

At Hamtramck, DOD Local 3 of the CIO United Auto Workers, claiming 15,000 members, pledged its support to the program at a Sunday meeting. The local mapped a campaign to interest other unions in the drive.

Organization meetings were planned to enlist the aid of the city's housewives, merchants and school children and a mass meeting to boom the drive was planned for Sunday at the city's Keyworth Stadium.

Police said shopping crowds in the Hamtramck business section Saturday night were the largest since Easter. Police joined the campaign by distributing pledge cards to merchants.

Charlesvoix, Mich., April 28 (P)—William L. Tyron, one-time Boyne City labor leader, was convicted today of first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of his wife, Opal, last Dec. 2.

Moments later, Circuit Judge Karl K. Leibrand sentenced him to life imprisonment in Southern Michigan prison, a mandatory term.

The jury deliberated two hours and 45 minutes before returning the verdict before a hushed, packed courtroom.

After Tyron said he had "nothing to say" with regard to the verdict or penalty, Defense Counsel Roman E. Golchski filed a motion for a 20-day stay of sentence in order to appeal the verdict.

NO PROGRESS
MADE TO END
PHONE STRIKESTORMY SESSION IN WASHINGTON GETS NOWHERE

Washington, April 28 (P)—The Government tonight recessed the telephone strike negotiations overnight after what was officially called a "stormy session." A Bell system official told reporters: "We are just where we were 10 days ago."

United States Conciliators Peter J. Manno and William N. Margolis, after day-long efforts to bring together disputants in the strategic long-distance phase of the dispute, issued this statement: "In view of certain obstacles which precipitated a stormy session today, we adjourned the conference until 11 a. m. Tuesday, April 29, 1947."

The conciliators disclosed that the major obstacle was the union's insistence on a dollars-and-cents wage offer and the company's stand for arbitration.

Bias Charged
A union denunciation of the Department of Labor as "the tool of management" tonight prompted a conference of Secretary of Labor Schweikert with three top leaders of the striking Federation of Telephone Workers.

The accusation was made against the department by Ernest Weaver, president of the Association of Communications Equipment Workers, who are on strike at Western Electric plants across the nation. Weaver demanded that the labor department withdraw from his negotiations with the Western Electric company.

Soon after, Joseph A. Beirne, president of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, John J. Moran, vice president, and John L. Crull, chairman of the national bargaining committee of the Federation, met with Schweikert on the whole issue.

This conference got underway as federal conciliators suggested that an early end to the nationwide phone strike—now in its fourth week—might be in the offing. But they advanced no definite evidence to support their optimism.

Nothing Less Than $6
Henry Mayer, counsel for several of the striking unions, who had made a swift tour of several cities, came back to Washington today.

Asked by a reporter what the situation appeared to be among the strikers, he said:

"I found an unswerving determination to take nothing less than the pattern."

He referred to the increase of $6 a week or approximately 15 cents an hour, which has been granted to CIO unions in the steel, auto, electrical and manufacturing industries in the past two weeks.

Weaver's displeasure was aroused by a statement which he said the conciliators wanted him to sign. He interpreted it as a proposal that he repudiate the national Federation of Telephone Workers, with which his union is affiliated.

Weaver now is acting national strike director. The former strike director, Carlton W. Werkau, is presiding over policy committee meetings while Chairman John J. Moran conducts government-sponsored bargaining talks for his union with the long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Weaver told reporters his group "is negotiating to find out whether to negotiate."

"This strategy is being condoned by the secretary of labor's organization," Weaver said. "In our opinion they are being used as the tool of management."

Heiress To $600,000
On Trial May 26
For Killing Parents

Santa Ana, Calif., April 28 (P)—Louise Overall, 17-year-old heiress to $600,000 and her boy friend pleaded innocent today to amended indictments accusing them of killing her parents aboard the latter's yacht in Newport harbor March 15.

Superior Judge Franklin G. West approved a prosecution motion under which the original grand jury indictment—accusing each of only one count of murder—was changed to name each on two counts, involving the slayings of the parents separately rather than jointly.

The couple will be tried jointly May 26. Judge West denied a defense plea for separate trials by the girl's attorney, Otto A. Jacobson, committing: "Any necessary distinctions can be made during the trial."

Wallace Laughs Off
Support Of Truman,
Urges Loan To Reds

Washington, April 28 (P)—Henry A. Wallace roared with laughter today at a suggestion that President Truman anticipates his support in 1948 and declared "it's too early to say about that."

Asked whether he plans to join with Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) to head a third party in the presidential election, he said that "we'll make a rendezvous March to see about that. I still hope the Democratic party will become the liberal party. If not, there will have to be some steps taken—no doubt about that."

And as to his own political ambitions, if any, he said that "the only question of my running for office would be to benefit peace in the world, and if it would do that I would run as hard as a I could."

Thus the former vice president disposed of political questions at a huge news conference at which he complained of some misunderstanding of the criticism he delivered abroad against the administration's foreign policy and leveled some fresh indictments.

More than 100 newsmen crowded Wallace's headquarters at an apartment house and the gathering became so large that it was shifted to a larger room.

The last minute shift of rooms brought a statement from the Mutual Broadcasting System here that "this was a maneuver to foil the recording" of the conference planned by Mutual and National Broadcasting Company crews who had set up apparatus in the first room.

Mutual reported that when its crew placed a microphone before Wallace in the new location, he put it on the floor, placed his left foot upon it and remonstrated: "This is a press conference, sir! I make it a rule not to mix radio with press interviews."

Wallace accused Mr. Truman of giving the United Nations "the run around" in advocating military aid for Greece and Turkey, and declared "I don't believe we can buy peace that way."

"I didn't go to Europe to criticize U. S. foreign policy. I went to strengthen the hand of those people who want peace. I shall continue to fight."

Wallace said he still thinks the United States should make "a very large loan to Russia at a low interest rate because she suffered such terrible devastation during the war," but said he never had mentioned a specific amount. He was quoted abroad as suggesting $10,000,000,000 to $17,000,000,000.

Another threat to Socialist Ramadier's government came from the Radical-Socialists, who threatened to quit the cabinet if the Communists failed to back stern measures against the leaders of the revolt in Madagascar.

Amid talk of a possible crisis was speculation that Leon Blum, elder Socialist statesman, might consent to head an all-Socialist cabinet.

Problems facing the legislators, who convene tomorrow, included the bread shortage, the budget, Indochina and Madagascar, possible efforts to amend the constitution and deep-seated cleavages over foreign policy with relation to America and Russia.

Rail Break Wrecks
Southern Pacific's
Argonaut; 42 Hurt

Ontario, Calif., April 28 (P)—Forty-two persons were injured when the Southern Pacific Railroad's Argonaut struck a broken rail last night while traveling approximately 60 miles an hour on a stretch of level track at Guasti, four miles east of here.

The Argonaut, New Orleans-bound from Los Angeles, ploughed over several hundred yards of track. Sixteen cars, all but the locomotive, two baggage cars and the last two Pullmans, were derailed but remained upright.

Three persons were reported seriously injured: Mrs. Lucille Pound of Compton, Calif., Felix Palsinos, 14, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Ida Lapham, 25, of Tucson, Ariz.

M. A. Nugent, assistant railroad superintendent, said a broken switch point rail caused the accident. Railroad officials said there was no panic among passengers.

The wreck occurred at 9:45 p. m., an hour and 25 minutes after the train left Los Angeles.

Woman Too Willing In Telephone Strike

Meriden, Miss., April 28 (P)—An elderly woman who had retired after 35 years at a telephone exchange explained to the strike picket:

"Oh, I must go and help the chief operator get the emergency calls through. Why, I trained her from the beginning up."

"And when I get through helping her, if I'm not too tired, I'll come down and help you with your picketing."

FORD WORKERS
WANT PENSIONSUnion Stiffens Demands For New Contract And 23½-Cent Raise

Detroit, April 28 (P)—The CIO United Workers, caught in a wage pattern not of their own making, today sought to stiffen their campaign against the Ford Motor Co., last unsigned member of the automotive big three.

Negotiators, expected to begin conferences with the company in a few days, were directed to press for old age pensions as well as a 23½ cent an hour wage boost.

Both demands were abandoned by the UAW-CIO in its settlements with General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. last week for 11½ holidays.

The settlement terms followed a pattern set April 14 when the CIO United Electrical Workers signed with General Motors.

The executive board of Ford Local 600, largest in the union, ordered the national negotiating committee to make a fight for pensions after President Thomas Thompson told members that "an overwhelming percentage" of present Ford employees face discharge or demotion because of age within 15 years.

Ford, paying an average of approximately $1.39 an hour to its production workers, boasted top rates in the big three until 11½ cent increase boosted General Motors' rate to $1.42½ and Chrysler's to $1.43½.

An estimated 100,000 Ford employees are covered by the present UAW-CIO contract which runs out May 31.

Sigler's Financing
Conferences Ignore
Labor, Reid Claims

Lansing, April 28 (P)—Labor is being ignored in the formation of Governor Sigler's new program of state financing, according to John Reid, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor.

In a letter to the governor today, Reid declared "labor plays the greatest share of the sales tax, but in all our conferences on the fiscal problem of the state, we know of no representative of this large group of taxpayers being present."

Reid recommended as progressive tax legislation, the little community property bill and the Nowak bills to reduce the sales tax one cent and impose three percent personal and corporation income taxes.

The governor's endorsement of an increased beer tax and a new soft drink tax, Reid said, "are just added sales taxes on the workers of the state whose incomes have not kept pace with the output at current prices."

Bill To Protect
Utility Services
In Strikes Signed

Lansing, April 28 (P)—The Vanderveer bill making it a felony to "interfere with or manipulate" public utility services today was signed into law by Governor Sigler.

The legislature gave the bill immediate effect in an announced attempt to make it applicable to the telephone strike. A broadening of an existing law, the bill forbids tampering with or obstructing utility facilities.

Sigler described the measure as "a bill that should be part of the law in any land ruled by laws and not men."

EUROPE NEEDS
QUICK ACTION
FOR RECOVERYMARSHALL REPORTS
ON PEACE TREATY
PROBLEMS

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, April 28. (P)—Premier Stalin told Secretary Marshall that compromises are possible on the great issues splitting the wartime Allies, Marshall revealed tonight.

But the American secretary of state, just back from the Moscow conference which bogged down in disagreement on all main points, warned in a radio report to the nation that the fate of Europe cannot wait on "compromise through exhaustion."

"Disintegrating forces are becoming evident," he said. "The patient is sinking while the doctors deliberate."

Without becoming specific, he said: "Whatever action is possible to meet these pressing problems must be taken without delay."

Dictators Not Wanted
Marshall, in a lengthy speech, reviewed the bitter disagreements between Russia and the other Allies at the Moscow conference, which was called to draft a peace treaty for Austria and to make a start on writing a blueprint for Germany's peacetime future.

The American secretary declared Russia's proposals for a centralized German government and heavy reparations would have resulted "in a deteriorating economic life in Germany and Europe and the inevitable emergence of dictatorship and strife."

He also accused the Soviets of "propaganda appeals to passion and prejudice." He said charges were made "which varied completely from the facts as understood or as actually known by the American delegation."

But he said that some progress was made because differences were clarified, and "future negotiations can start with a knowledge of exactly what the issues are that must be settled."

First Skirmish Helpful
Marshall advised in his detailed report—his first major address since he became secretary of state in January—that "we must not compromise on great principles in order to achieve agreement for agreement's sake."

But also, he said, "we must sincerely try to understand the point of view to those with whom we differ."

His disclosure of what he was told by Stalin at their conference at the close of the foreign ministers meeting followed that observation.

Marshall reported that Stalin said the conference represented only the "first skirmishes and brushes of reconnaissance forces" on the European peace settlement.

Marshall paraphrased the Soviet leader's remarks to him thus: "Differences had occurred in the past on other questions, and as a rule, after people had exhausted themselves in dispute, they then recognized the necessity of compromise."

"It was possible that no great success would be achieved at this session, that he (Stalin) thought that compromises were possible on all the main questions, including demilitarization, political structure of Germany, reparations and economic unity. It was necessary

CAFE OWNERS STUDY RULES

Proposed Ordinance Outlined At Meeting Here Monday

O. E. McGuire, district engineer of the Michigan department of health, and William Hendrickson, county sanitarian, outlined the provisions of the proposed restaurant ordinance at a meeting of restaurant and tavern operators here yesterday at the city hall council chambers.

Principal objection voiced against the ordinance was that owners are having difficulty in securing materials for desired improvements. It was pointed out, however, that the ordinance would not go into effect for a year after its adoption by the city council, thus giving all owners an adequate opportunity to make improvements.

McGuire also stressed that only about 50 points out of a total of 1,000 would be graded upon the physical property.

Motorist Fined For Drunk Driving Following Mishap

William Davis, 1219 North Second avenue, was fined $50 and costs, or 30 days in jail, when he pleaded guilty in justice court yesterday to drunk driving, an outgrowth of an accident involving a car driven by Davis early Sunday morning. His driver's license also was revoked.

The car driven by Davis, travelling south on Stephenson avenue, hit an automobile driven by Henry Meyers, 118 North 21st street, at the intersection of Third avenue north and Stephenson avenue. Mrs. Meyers sustained a cut on her face and a companion, Marie Gannon, had her glasses broken in the mishap.

Donald Friets, 201 South 16th street, also reported that his car previously had been struck by Davis in the 700 block of Stephenson avenue.

Lad, 5, Is Struck By Pickup Truck

A pickup truck driven by Richard DeMars, 1711 Second avenue north, struck Robert Brown, 5, of Stephenson avenue, yesterday morning on the 900 block of Stephenson avenue. The child's injury is not regarded as serious.

The Brown boy and two companions were playing behind the City of Escanaba street sweeper when Brown ran out into the path of DeMars' car, which was travelling south. The child was taken to St. Francis hospital.

DeMars paid a fine of $3 and $3 costs for operating a car without a license.

DOES WONDERS FOR CONSTIPATED MAN

Famous cereal keeps him "regular" without drugs

Discouraged about your constipation? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"I tried so many kinds of laxatives for constipation, but after a while they all failed to do their work. I started to eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN some time ago and was surprised to find this wonderful product helped me as many laxatives had failed to do. I eat it every day now and am happy to say I feel like a new man!" Mr. B. Lee Ward, 115 Park Avenue, Edgewood 5, R. I.

Yes, eating ALL-BRAN regularly often brings lasting relief from constipation—due to lack of bulk in the diet. For best results, eat it for breakfast every day—and drink plenty of water. Try it for ten days! If by that time you are not completely satisfied with KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, send the empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan, and get double your money back.

ALL-BRAN is not a purgative but a wholesome food made from the vital outer layers of whole wheat. Eat daily either as a cereal, or in muffins. Ask your grocer for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN.

$40,000 Lumber Fire At Rudyard

Rudyard — The MacDonald Lumber Company in Rudyard, set fire by an oil stove explosion about 1:30 p. m. Friday, was reduced to a $40,000 mass of smoldering ruins within a few hours. The flames were fanned by a strong westerly wind.

Fire destroyed a warehouse packed full with building materials, including 35,000 feet of pine, and recent shipments of window sash and frames, building board, insulation material, siding and other materials.

Fire Chief Clair A. Thompson of Rudyard and his men saved several stacks of lumber in direct path of the flames, and fire equipment from the Sault brought by Chief Frank F. Trombley and Coast Guard officials, as well as conservation department equipment from Trout Lake responded to the call.

B. A. "Bud" MacDonald, owner of the company, was literally "chased" from the building by the flames.

E. A. Wenner, Delta county agricultural agent for the past 12 years, will leave tomorrow for East Lansing, where he will assume his new position as supervisor of District No. 4 in charge of Michigan State college extension service personnel in 18 county offices in the northern part of Lower Michigan.

Yesterday noon Harry D. Brackett at a meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club lauded Wenner for his successful work in the development of agriculture in Delta county. He said that through the county agent's friendly and understanding help the farmer have been aided and better cooperation between urban and rural groups has resulted.

"The accomplishments have been those of the farmers in the county and the people in the city, cooperating together to help agricultural industry," Wenner replied. "I feel sure that this cooperation will continue in the future."

Wenner is a director of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club, and has served as the club's rural-urban committee chairman. He is also chairman of the board of trustees of the First Presbyterian church. Prior to coming here, Wenner was Iron county 4-H club agent for five years. Born on a farm in Jackson county, he graduated from Brooklyn high school there, and from Michigan State college in 1929. He has been employed in extension work for the college for 17 years.

Saturday night at Cornell town hall the farmers of Delta county sponsored a surprise farewell party for the county agent, where dancing was enjoyed and a pot luck lunch was served. Wenner was presented with a purse of money.

The Delta county board of supervisors has recommended to the state board of agriculture the appointment of Joseph Heirman, county agricultural agent at Manistique, as county agent in Delta. If the appointment is made it is possible that Heirman would come here June 1.

Youth Being Taught Safe Driving In U. P. Schools

Captain Carl W. Robertson, district commander of the Michigan state police in the Upper Peninsula, in cooperation with Dr. H. A. Tape, president of the Northern Michigan College of Education, and Dr. William Hoppes, director of placement at Northern, instituted a drivers' training school at Marquette last fall which has spread to other parts of the Peninsula and is expected to grow to large proportions.

It began with an in-service school program, to train instructors for driver's training classes, and is now a part of the regular Northern College program, though students get no credit for it.

A faculty was selected to train instructors. It consists of Corporal Ralph Sheehan, of the state police; Earl Ferns, of the industrial arts department of the college, and John Gucky, industrial arts teacher at Graveret high school.

Early last November this staff began a training program for instructors in the U. P., which resulted in the "processing" of 109 qualified teachers in six counties. There were 12 from Marquette county, Houghton 14, Iron 34, Dickinson 22, Menominee 12, and Delta 15.

These teachers are now qualified to instruct high school students and others in the driver training program.

Twenty-five members of the NMCE senior class are taking the course. They started March 27 and will complete the course June 6. Although they do not receive academic credit, each will be qualified to instruct high school students next fall.

Why is there a need for drivers' training courses? A glance at statistics gives the answer.

Roughly speaking, the accident rate for the 15-17 age group is about nine times as great as it is for any other group. That fact alone would be a good reason for driver training courses.

"Behind that accident rate is the simple truth that the rate for youngsters is high because they learn to drive in a haphazard way and do not realize the power of the automobile nor its limitations," Captain Robertson said. In addition to giving the student a thorough knowledge of the car, how it operates and the meaning of highway and street signs, the driving school teaches limitations, physical and mental, of each particular driver. It tries to instill good habits in the student and give him a working knowledge of mechanics and maintenance of the vehicle. The youth is trained to an attitude of responsibility, not only to himself and to others riding with him, but to others who use the highway.

One Person Injured When Cars Collide

Jack Bell of Wilson suffered minor injuries early Sunday morning when cars driven by Lloyd G. Olson, 25, of Bark River, Rt. 1, and Walter Mokszyce, 20, of Harris, collided on US-2-41 one and one-half miles east of the M-69 junction. Both cars were badly damaged.

Riding with Olson, who was driving east, were Hubert Gasman of Wells, Marvin Palmgren and Edgar Larson of Bark River. Sheriff's officers who investigated the accident said it occurred at 4 a. m. Sunday, and that a warrant is to be asked charging Olson with reckless driving.

The focal point of an earthquake is normally between one and 31 miles beneath the surface.

Rotarians Have Chests X-Rayed In Mobile Unit

Members of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday adjourned their noon meeting early and in a group went to the Escanaba Junior high school where they received x-ray chest examinations for tuberculosis in the state health department's mobile x-ray unit.

The program was arranged by E. A. Wenner, Rotary program committee chairman, and Miss Louise Grimm, Delta county health nurse. Miss Grimm was a guest at the luncheon meeting in the Delta hotel and advised the membership on how the examination is made.

She pointed out that only coats have to be laid aside and that it is not necessary to disrobe to have the x-ray made. The taking of the picture requires only a few seconds. After the examination there is a report made to each person, and if tuberculosis is revealed the family physician is notified and additional tests are made. The reports are mailed out in about three weeks after the x-ray is taken.

Musical entertainment at the Rotary club meeting included a group of three songs by Miss Patricia Amnell, accompanied at the piano by Miss Olive Lemmer.

Edgar Nedeau Has Bad Day In Court

It was a bad day in court yesterday for Edgar Nedeau, 25, of St. Jacques.

First Nedeau was bound over to circuit court on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile. Bond was set at $1,000, which was unfurnished.

Then if that wasn't enough grief for a single day, Nedeau also pleaded guilty to a charge of non support and was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail.

Jailed On Charge Of Statutory Rape

Louis Duval, 929 Washington avenue, an employee of the City of Escanaba, was arraigned in justice court here yesterday afternoon on a charge of statutory rape and was bound over to circuit court on $2,000 bond. Duval was committed to the county jail pending arrangements to provide bond.

Duval, who is 64 years old, was arrested on complaint of the mother of a 14-year-old girl. The offense is alleged to have been committed last December and the girl involved in the case is pregnant.

When Andrew Jackson traveled from his home in Nashville, Tenn., to Washington in 1829 to take the oath of office as President of the United States, the journey required four weeks.

We're Trying to Handle EMERGENCY CALLS

During the Telephone Strike . . .

But we must have your co-operation

Before you attempt to place either a Local or Long Distance call, please stop and ask yourself—

IS IT AN EMERGENCY?

DOES THE CALL INVOLVE: FIRE? POLICE? SICKNESS? INJURY? DEATH? LOSS OF PROPERTY?

If it does, your call is an EMERGENCY call and you have reason to attempt to place it. And our limited forces will do their best to handle it.

If your call does NOT involve an emergency, please do NOT attempt to place it.

With only a few people available to man the switchboards during the strike, we must devote our efforts to EMERGENCY CALLS ONLY. It is necessary for us to answer all signals on the switchboards to determine which are emergency calls. So it is imperative that you limit your calls to EMERGENCY CALLS ONLY.

Even so, there still remains the risk that some emergency calls will go unhandled because we just do not have enough people.

Michigan Bell deeply regrets the need for this urgent appeal for your co-operation. We are still trying to settle the strike. Meanwhile, we are doing our best to handle emergency calls. Please help us . . .

New Wage Pattern Accepted

TAKING its cue from the 15c an hour wage increase formula established by the U. S. Steel company and the United Steel Workers, industry generally is writing new contracts with the various big unions providing for similar wage boosts. Immediately following the steel agreement, General Motors wrote a new ticket for the automotive industry with a slightly different formula but one that still adds up to the basic 15c pattern. Chrysler followed in line and it will be surprising if Ford doesn't do likewise. Other major steel producers have accepted the formula, as has the General Electric company and leaders in the chemical industry.

The 15c an hour pattern undoubtedly will become standard for most of the country. As union contracts expire, they will be redrawn to provide for the wage boosts commensurate with the settlement made in the steel and automotive industries.

Because corporation profits generally have been unusually high, not all of the wage increases will be passed on to the consumers in the form of increased prices but they will serve to balk the movement for general price reductions. General Electric has already announced that its new 15c an hour wage increase to employees will result in price boosts that will average about seven percent.

Undoubtedly industry will not find it quite as simple to pass on increased operating costs to the consumers in the year ahead as it did the past year. Demand for consumer goods still remains high but there has been a noticeable slackening in recent months. Production also is on the increase which means greater competition.

From the national standpoint, it would have been far better if the 15c an hour wage increase pattern had not been established this year and if prices had been permitted to drop on a proportionate basis. The only redeeming feature of the current settlement of the economic unbalance is that it provides a means by which industry can keep production going with the danger of stifling strikes eliminated.

Liquor Lobby Busy Again

THE charge by the Michigan Temperance Foundation that the Tripp liquor bill, designed to take the state out of the liquor business, will result in weaker enforcement of the liquor traffic and generate new opportunities for graft and corruption is one deserving careful attention of the people of Michigan.

Certainly the public does not want less enforcement of the liquor traffic, but more enforcement.

The Tripp bill smacks suspiciously of a new effort on the part of the liquor lobbyists to yield greater profits to the liquor dealers. For one thing, the measure would result in an increase of about $11,000,000 in liquor costs to consumers, on the basis of last year's consumption. Of this increase, $7,600,000 would go to the dealers and only $3,400,000 to the state.

The bill provides the impression, on the surface, that it is designed principally to yield more revenue to the state. It would do that by taking $11,000,000 in revenues now going to local units of government, plus the $3,400,000 in new taxes. The diversion of the tax money now going to local governments into the state treasury obviously can be accomplished without providing a 7½ million dollar boost in dealer profits.

The aversion of the liquor interests, as expressed in the Tripp bill, fails to give proper consideration to public interest. Moreover, it suggests a gradual return to liquor abuses that led up to national prohibition after the first World war.

Site for a Forest

GOADED by a field representative of the state aeronautics commission to establish a modern and larger airport, the city of Escanaba acquired the 2,000-acre Escanaba ore dock project site for about $65,000.

An engineering firm had submitted a report that the area was an ideal site for an airfield that could accommodate large airline ships. But after the land was acquired, it was discovered that the engineering experts had failed to take into account the difficulties and expense involved in the moving of the E. & L. S. railway tracks from the airport site. So, it was decided it would be more economical to extend the runways of the present municipal airport.

Now, the city has 2,000 acres of land on its hands and nothing to do with it, although the waterfront portion of the area has good shipping and industrial possibilities.

In this connection, an excerpt from a letter received by the Press from W. A. Kluender, forestry agent of the Chicago and North Western railway, may contain a worthwhile suggestion:

"Some time back I heard that the city of Escanaba acquired considerable land from the federal government, which I presume was in the area where the large dock had been built during the war," Kluender writes. "As I recall, this invoiced several thousand acres. I wonder what consideration the city of Escanaba is giving to using this land for the development of some forest plantations. With the brisk market that has developed in last few years for pine Christmas trees, I wonder if such a venture could not be financially liquidated in a short time, leaving a very nice stand of growing timber for future industrial use."

Mr. Kluender's suggestion looks like a good one.

Need for Zoning

HOUSING is urgently needed in Escanaba, as is the case everywhere else, but does this mean we must forget all we have learned about proper community planning?

Although there is plenty of room for expansion here, houses are being crowded together, two on a lot, with a minimum of yard space. Shelterless folks are gladly buying these homes, so anxious are they to have roofs over their heads. But they would be much happier in the future if they had built homes on larger lots.

The Escanaba city council adopted a zoning ordinance years ago to restrict unwise building practices. We do not know whether the ordinance is being observed to the letter. If it is being observed, it would appear that the ordinance should be revised, if we wish to have well-planned, roomy residential neighborhoods in the future.

D&C Changes Its Mind

DECISION of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company to operate its five Great Lakes passenger vessels this year, reversing a stand taken last December, provides new hope that D&C may be encouraged to schedule summer cruises to Escanaba.

In past years the company generally routed at least one trip annually to Escanaba, and there was hope that the steamship company would not only continue but expand this service. This hope is revived by the announcement that the D&C has changed its intent to suspend operations and will put their five cruise ships into service again this year.

Political Plums

IT IS unfortunate that it requires an economy wave in congress to discover and wipe out wastage in political patronage appointments.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) has aimed his sights on the juicy plums of the collector of customs positions which he contends is costing the government $400,000 a year with very little service rendered, if any.

These plush jobs, offered in exchange for service to the party in power, of course, should be eliminated, but the sweep need not stop there. Congressmen looking for wastage in public funds can readily find it, not only in the customs department but in many other branches of the federal service as well.

FORGOTTEN—135,000,000 PEOPLE (Milwaukee Journal)

Would it do any good again to remind the union and the telephone company—we are speaking of both on the national level—that 135,000,000 people are being seriously interfered with?

Here is a utility that is supposed to do everything possible—come rain or snow or disaster or what have you—to give service. And here are workers who are supposed to be conscious of their responsibility and their part in keeping that obligation. Yet negotiations are stalled.

The Wisconsin Telephone Co., in its reply to the call of Secretary Schwellenbach, did show a consciousness and concern for its responsibility. The company prefers regional arbitration but it accepted arbitration in principle and, to all appearances, in a spirit of wanting to make it a success.

The trouble is on the national scale—where the interests of 135,000,000 people seem to be forgotten.

SOUND ADVICE (Marquette Mining Journal)

A University of Michigan economics professor advises veterans to keep their bonus money in cash or invest it in Government bonds. It is sound advice. For one thing, as he points out, the bonus money may be worth considerably more a few months hence after prices have been shaken down. For another, the veteran who spends his bonus will not be as well off as the veteran who invests it wisely. This is the reason: The veteran ultimately will pay back to the state in taxes for interest on and retirement of the bonus bonds as much, if not more, than he receives. The best he can hope for is that the interest on his investment will offset his tax contribution. What the Michigan veteran is receiving is not in reality a bonus but a loan from the state to be paid back with interest.

WORDS TO WATCH

The word vivacious is not "viv-ASH-uss." Dictionary consensus and American good usage rhyme the first syllable with "bay, may," thus: vy-VAY-shuss. However, in the word vivacity, the second syllable has the flat "a" sound: vy-VASS-i-tee.

Similarly, the second syllable of audacious should have the "ay" sound, as: aw-DAY-shuss. But the "a" is flat in audacity, thus: aw-DASS-i-tee.

Copra is dried coconut meat, a very important import to the United States, for copra is our source of coconut oil. Do not pronounce it "KOE-pruh." The first syllable rhymes with "fop, hop." Say: KOP-rub.

Watch the word cupola, "a kind of dome." Not "KEW-puh-loe" with the last syllable rhyming with "foe, hoe." Note that cupola ends with "a," not "o." In good American usage the vowel is obscured in

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — It's about those potatoes again. The 90,000,000 bushels of potatoes that are being destroyed in this year of hunger—that is to say, hunger almost everywhere outside the western hemisphere.

Consider these facts. Put side by side, they might serve as a kind of sanity test and our civilization wouldn't get a passing mark.

During the war, the government promoted the development of DDT, the amazing insecticide that does so much more than any other bug-killer ever devised. That was a wartime measure. DDT helped to keep down malaria in the Pacific and in Italy.

Then we have peace, of a kind. 1946 is the first year that DDT is available in quantity to American farmers. It keeps down the bugs that kill potato plants and so we have an overflowing crop. Then the government has to step in to destroy a considerable part of that crop so that potato farmers will not go broke.

—POVERTY AMIDST PLENTY—

Of course, nearly perfect weather in '46 helped, and so did improved methods of cultivation and improved seed. But the DDT developed by the government was an important reason for the record crop.

"Poverty in the midst of plenty." We heard that judgment in 1931 and '32. I spent most of the worst depression winter in Florida, and the sight of Florida's beautiful golden crop of oranges rotting on the ground under the trees was one of the saddest sights you could imagine. The newspapers told of breadlines and hunger in every industrial city.

There is something particularly revolting to us, in this abundant land of ours, about destroying the bounty of the earth. That is why Henry Wallace's slaughter of the little pigs stood out as a wretched symbol of failure, even though Wallace repeatedly explained that it was only a brief temporary expedient.

We've tried various ways to whip the paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty. For several years before the war, we loaned farmers money on their crops when production reached a certain level. That meant warehouses bulging with "surplus" commodities, especially cotton, which the government got under loan.

If it had not been for the war, the government would have taken a tremendous loss on those loans. Thanks to the war, the Commodity Credit Corporation came out with a profit of a few million dollars. But that seems to mean that we have to have wars every few years to get rid of our "surplus" goods.

This brings us back to the potatoes. They are a sign of trouble with bigger and far more important crops unless somehow we find an answer to the riddle of our time—and an answer that will not mean an end to the things we prize most. After all, potatoes are less than two per cent of a family's cost of living and they can't be shipped abroad economically because they are 90 per cent water.

By great good fortune, one of the most conscientious and able men in Congress has just started a series of hearings to analyze this toughest of all riddles. He is Rep. Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of the House Agriculture committee.

Here you have a good example of cooperation in government. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, the first witness, presented in outline a balance sheet of our farm economy. It showed how much food we need to produce to feed people about as well as they are being fed today and how many acres that would take. And it also showed what we will have to do to conserve large areas where the top soil is being mined away.

Chairman Hope can use the balance sheet and go on from there. In the past we've shown in small ways how to distribute the "surplus" that is not really a surplus so long as so many people do not get enough milk and eggs and meat.

One way is through the school lunch program under which children who need it get free lunches, and without any finger of discrimination being put on them. For the current fiscal year, congress appropriated $75,000,000 for school lunches. When the sellers' market ends and farm commodities pile up, that program can be greatly expanded.

But still, it may not be enough of an answer. Chairman Hope and the members of his committee will look into it. They will work with the department of agriculture to try, honestly and conscientiously, to look the sphinx in the face—the sphinx with the smile that mocks the proudest boasts of our time. If they can solve the problem of poverty in the midst of plenty in agriculture, then we can begin to believe that we shall find a way out of this strange dilemma.

A number of readers have asked for the origin, meaning, and pronunciation of the word surrealism as used by artists. Surrealism is from the French surrealisme, and expresses the idea of "above or beyond realism"; hence, a type of art which purports to express images or ideas without relation to reality, as in a dream or nightmare. Surrealism is pronounced: suh-REE-ul-izm.

The Spanish painter, Salvador Dali (SAHL-vah-THAW' DAH-lee), is perhaps the best known surrealist (suh-REE-ul-izm) in America. His most familiar work is the painting, "Persistence of Memory," a sort of hashish-dream landscape in which flabby watches droop like melted cheese over various objects. Personally, I prefer the healthy American realism of Norman Rockwell.

A minister of Santa Paula, Calif., pleads with me to campaign against the mispronunciation "heightn" for height. I have discussed it many times; but once more may not be amiss. Height should rhyme with "rite, mite," thus: hite.

THE BIG TREE—Henry Comeliness, who has a farm north of Bark River, stopped in the other day while in town to report that he has found what he believes to be the largest tree of its kind in Delta county—perhaps in the state. The tree is a poplar, and is nine feet nine inches in circumference.

The reason Henry reported the big tree was because he read some time ago in this column a request that all big trees be reported to the conservation department. You will recall that the conservation department advised that in a nation-wide big tree survey Michigan had only one "biggest tree." That was a June berry, or shad berry, usually considered a shrub. The big bush was growing in Lower Michigan.

Henry said that he believes the big poplar tree was planted about 1890, for it grows near the foundation of an old lumber camp about four miles north of Rapid River, and one-quarter mile east of Highway US-41.

AS JUDGE-ELECT—Following the April election in which Atty. Glenn Jackson of Gladstone was elected judge of the 25th judicial district he has made only one public speaking appearance. That was by invitation of the Upper Peninsula Association of Law Enforcement Officers at Marquette last Thursday. Atty. Jackson will become circuit judge following the retirement of Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee on Dec. 31.

During the pre-election campaign Atty. Jackson was invited to speak to the law officers, but he politely declined when it appeared there might be some who would interpret his appearance as a method of making campaign capital out of it. Once the election was over, however, the invitation was repeated and the judge-elect spoke to the law officers on the subject "The Relationship of the Law Enforcement Officer and the Court."

Now the election is over. Atty. Jackson is as busy as ever clearing up his legal work and closing out a law practice of many years. Always an active and quietly energetic man, the judge-elect feels he will not be overworked when he becomes circuit judge at the beginning of 1948.

PICTURED—Escanabans will remember genial Bert Lundblad, who was manager for Greyhound bus lines here before he went to St. Paul a couple years ago. After he left here he became stage manager for the "Ice Follies," a deluxe skating show, and was on tour with them throughout most of the United States.

The other day in a St. Paul paper appeared a picture of Lundblad surrounded by a bunch of small and fluffy dogs. Beneath the picture was the information that "dogs are a part of the show's equipment."

BIG YIELD FORMULA—J. D. Robinson of Pellston, Michigan, has five times won the title of "premier potato grower" of the state. In 1946 his yield was 721 bushels of No. 1 potatoes per acre. Here's how he does it:

First he gives the soil a good "scratching" with a tractor-cultivator in the spring, doctored the seedbed with 2,000 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizer per acre, planted 35 bushels of certified seed per acre in mid-May. He ran a weeder

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Detroit—The United Automobile Workers of America gained recognition bargaining agency for more than 14,000 Packard Motor Car company employees tonight with a four-to-one margin in the first government-conducted election in the automobile industry under the Wagner act.

Water from a broken sprinkler head about 9:30 last night caused damage estimated by Manager J. H. Hart at between $5,000 and $6,000 to the Montgomery Ward store at the corner of Twelfth and Ludington streets.

Washington—Government observers predicted today that more strikes are likely this summer despite the supreme court's decisions upholding the Wagner labor disputes act.

Permanent Ferris Institute Alumni association of Delta county was organized at the dinner banquet at the Sherman hotel last night at which about 35 alumni and members of the Big Rapids school were present.

Twenty Years Ago

Los Angeles—Lita Grey Chaplain today was awarded $15,000 a month alimony pending her suit for divorce from Charlie Chaplain.

The city treasurer's office handled cash totaling $1,003,326.09 during the year 1926, it was made known in figures compiled by City Treasurer A. J. Manley yesterday.

Lansing—The senate disposed of the Binning labor bill today by sending it to the committee on agriculture with instructions that it "be buried deep in the soil."

At a meeting held Friday afternoon, the junior class of St. Joseph's high school decided to entertain the seniors at a "prom" on Friday evening May 20. The juniors are hereby establishing a precedent which will be enthusiastically met by the students and patrons of St. Joe's.

over the field twice, sprayed the vines 10 times with a power sprayer, hoed the field twice and irrigated four times with a rotary sprinkler system.

But Robinson reported that the biggest job of all came about October 1 when the potatoes were harvested. It was tough work to dig, pick-up and store 721 bushels per acre.

HOW IT GREW—Until a few years ago Michigan was way down the list of states according to area. Now it is in ninth place for size, and the largest state east of the Mississippi. What made the change?

It was Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, who brought it about. He directed attention of the federal government to the obvious fact that Michigan's area includes some Great Lakes water surface—41 per cent of the total Great Lakes area in fact.

Counting the state's surface ownership of Great Lakes waters gives Michigan a total area of 96,791 square miles, which puts it in ninth place for size after Texas, California, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Colorado and Wyoming.

INTERESTING JOB—We believe that Gene Hesterberg of Escanaba has the most interesting and enjoyable job of anyone we know. Gene is employed by the game division of the conservation department, and last winter was engaged in a study of deerward conditions in this area. You will recall that early this spring he observed the nest of a Canada jay or "lumberjack" bird that was nesting in a spruce tree eight feet above the snowdrifts. Recent-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Today John L. Lewis and the coal operators tee off to a discussion which will decide whether the nation's industry, just after escaping steel, motor and rubber strikes, will suffer a paralyzing coal shutdown.

Lewis goes into the conference very much on the spot. First, the government is now doing exactly what he has long urged—turning the mines back to private industry—effective June 30.

Second, Lewis is not in good shape with his own men. They have lost a total of around $900 per man in the past year through three strikes called by him. The miners lost 59 days last spring; 17 days in November and December and about two weeks this spring. In other words, they lost all they could have made by increased wages—and then some.

Lewis, therefore, has to stage a dramatic move to recapture the complete confidence of his men. To that end he is demanding a program the operators will never grant: 1, ten cents royalty on each ton of coal mined (with the 5 cents present royalty, the welfare fund is now $20,000,000); 2, continued mine safety committees; 3, present pay of $75 for a 54-hour week to be continued for a 40-hour week.

While the operators will give the same 15 cents an hour raise now granted in steel, motors and other industries, they won't yield on the heavy increase demanded by Lewis.

Yet Lewis's influence is slipping so badly that he is certain to try to stand pat for spectacular new gains. Result may be that the miners again will lose more while on strike than from increased wages—while the country suffers another deadly paralysis.

—MOSCOW DIARY—

Notes from a Moscow diplomatic diary—during the final days of the conference, General Marshall was shown a cartoon by David Low of the London Evening Standard depicting three of the big four at the conference table. The fourth, Marshall, was entering the door. A flunkey announced: "The Secretary of State of the United States," whereupon in walks Marshall dressed in the skirt and stockings of a Greek soldier... Marshall was so amused that he asked Low for the original cartoon... According to French Foreign Minister Bidault, "General Marshall speaks French quite well. He is very sympathetic. He says he listens to me for the accent, to the interpreter for the sense, and then to himself to understand what is meant." Dinner for four at the Hotel Moscow last night cost 138 rubles, or about $90... We drank vodka instead of cocktails because the cocktails were $6 each.

A Soviet intourist guide escorting General Clark about the town pointed to a big building and remarked with pride, "that's the Lenin library." "Oh, yes," replied Clark. "We have those at home." (You have to say it out loud to appreciate Clark's humor)... Went slumming today. Soviet life in the realistic raw—poverty, slums, crowded unhealthy living. We live in splendid isolation at Hotel Moscow that we have no idea what the Russian people are really like... Everyone in the Hotel Moscow gripes about the slow dining-room service. However, it took a French Communist to bawl out the waiter. "Bring me some chorbak," he said, "and see that I get it some time before the end of the third five-year plan!"... John Foster Dulles, much-touted diplomatic adviser to Tom Dewey, is more on the fringes than in the center. His excuse: "There is little opportunity to be anything but scenery in the Big Four meetings."... Dulles considers General Clay "politically naive" because Clay trusts the Germans to accept democracy instead of communism if given a free choice. Such tactics merely lead to a competitive campaign between Russia and the United States, explains Dulles, to see which side can give greatest favors to Germany.

—NO-WEIGHT DULLES—

Dulles claims to wield a lot of influence in shaping U. S. policy, but actually doesn't... Last year he pulled a big speech in Philadelphia claiming credit for persuading Jimmie Byrnes to get-tough-with-Russia. Real fact is that during the conferences in which Byrnes changed his policy, Dulles never opened his mouth. It was Averell Harriman who did the persuading... Dulles has dropped word that whether or not he becomes secretary of state, he expects to be very close to the department. He will be glad to make his advice always available... generous.

Saw a dress rehearsal of "The Russian Problem"—propaganda play attacking the capitalist American press. It is being produced simultaneously by 500 Russian theater companies in 500 Russian cities... Genevieve Tabouis, famous French journalist and onetime biographer of Edouard Herriot, carries on undaunted... She now hates the Reds as much as she hated Hitler... Communist bogies behind every lamp-post... the other day some Frenchmen got into Genevieve's hotel room when she was out, mugged up her papers, and left a note reading: "Vous êtes connue ici" (You are known here)... Now Genevieve sees not only Communists behind every lamp-post, but Soviet spies under her bed... The Big Four was deadlocked as usual last night. General Marshall, who was presiding, asked if the ministers wanted to adjourn or continue the discussion. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," quipped Bidault of France. "I suggest we adjourn."... But when the interpreter began translating, Bidault stopped him.

ly he reported that the four eggs had hatched and now there are fledglings in the nest.

And the other day Gene helped release at Stonington the first consignment of Hungarian partridge ever to be stocked in Delta county. It is hoped they will prosper to become a new type of game bird in the county's farming area—something like the pheasants in the Dakotas.

National Guard To Set Up Recruiting Office

To facilitate recruiting for the Escanaba National Guard company, which must double its strength to be eligible for field training at Camp Grayling in July, a temporary recruiting office will be established on Ludington street this week.

Arrangements are being made to establish the office either in the Army recruiting office, 1215 Ludington street, or at temporary quarters at the Escanaba post office.

Transportation Provided

Members, prospective members and men desiring further information about the National Guard, will be given transportation to the State Fairgrounds Armory for the meeting tomorrow night. The unit's Scout car will stop at the Escanaba postoffice corner and Fair store corner at approximately 7:15 tomorrow evening.

S-Sgt. LeRoy Erickson, Escanaba, who is on fulltime duty with the Guard, will be charge, and the office will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Escanaba Lagging

A checkup yesterday revealed that Escanaba is lagging far behind other cities in the Upper Peninsula which have National Guard companies.

Since activation last December, Company A, Calumet, has increased its strength to 41; Company B, Sault Ste. Marie, has increased its strength to 38, and headquarters and service company, Marquette, which was federally recognized with a roster of 27 now has a membership of 40.

Compared with these figures, Company C, Escanaba, has dropped to 21, six less than the number with which it was activated in December. This has been due to several necessary discharges for physical or business reasons.

The current campaign is being conducted, it was pointed out, not only to qualify the company along with the Upper Peninsula battalion for Camp Grayling but to bring Escanaba's strength on a par with companies in Calumet, Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette.

Pay Rate High

Guardsmen are paid at the rate of one day's pay for each two-hour drill period, ranging from $2.50 for a private to $6.50 for a master sergeant, it was pointed out. This is the equivalent of part-time pay ranging from $1.25 to $3.25 an hour, depending upon rank.

All men interested in joining are asked to attend drill at the State Fairgrounds Armory tomorrow night, beginning at 7:30. Transportation will be provided from downtown Escanaba.

Members of the unit will meet Wednesday to discuss the prospect of drilling twice a week, Capt. Roy Johnson, company commander, said yesterday. If two two-hour drill periods per week are held, members of the company will receive twice as much pay.

Two recent recruits are Elmer Wallace LaMarch, Box 107, Route

1, Escanaba, and Mithus Emil Parine, 31 Highland, Wells, who have filled out enlistment papers and are asked to report to Dr. W. A. Lemire, 1103 Ludington street, for their physical examinations.

Dr. Lemire will give individual examinations at his office at any time from 11 a. m. to noon and 1:30 to 5 p. m. Daily. The examination does not take long.

Radio In Review

By John Crosby

que on an independent in Chicago.

He might have added that "The Author Meets the Critics" show, the peepiest book program on the air and one of the smartest mixtures of culture and showmanship to come along in years, originated on an independent, WHN in New York, moved to WQXR and about 100 stations of the Mutual Broadcasting System and on May 25 will move to the National Broadcasting Company, a first class mollusc which is more absorbed in cutting things off the air than putting anything new on the air.

"Somebody suggested we do a program called 'Nuts to the Networks' and maybe we will," concluded Mr. Cott.

While the independents have a number of grievous sins to answer for, it's still pleasant to hear a voice as truculent as Mr. Cott's come to their defense. The indies, as they are called in the trade journals, must cope with small budgets, which is both their greatest weakness and greatest source of strength. This means they must substitute brains and imagination for the checkbook, and the results are sometimes surprisingly good.

Just what can be accomplished by an independent with courage and initiative was demonstrated by the stations which won Peabody awards this year. Peabody awards, which are radio's Oscars, went to WMCA in New York for its two magnificent educational programs "One World or None" which dealt with nuclear fission, and "New World A-Coming" which promoted racial tolerance. WOW of Omaha, Neb., took an award for outstanding public service for its radio series "Operation Big Muddy" which was the story of the harnessing of the Mississippi River. Another award for outstanding public service went to WELI of Battle Creek, Mich., for its program "Our Town," a forum.

Mr. Cott, incidentally, pointed out that one New York independent rated second among listeners in New York City, topping in popularity three of the networks, according to the February issue of "Pulse," a poll. Modestly, Mr. Cott forbore from saying that it was his own station WNEW. The indies have shown, at least in New York, that their disc jockey shows and ball games can outdraw soap opera and audience participation shows, which is certainly a healthy sign.

What the indies badly need is some sort of code similar to that

FUND DRIVE ENDS MAY 1

Local Red Cross Head Expects County To Fill Quota

Munising—A total of $1,252.92 has been collected in the current Red Cross fund drive conducted by the Alger county chapter of the organization, George Goss, chapter chairman, announces. The quota for the county is $3,522.

In Grand Marais, 90 per cent of the township's quota already has been collected. This township, Mr. Goss said, has always exceeded its quota and it is expected to do so again this year.

Eighty-seven captains have been appointed to solicit funds in the county and have started work in Chatham, Rock River, Traunk, Trenary, Eben, Shingleton, Van Meer and Wetmore. Walter Corey was named chairman of the solicitations in business establishments.

With only a few days left until the end of the drive, May 1, George Goss said he believed the county would meet its quota. During the last few days, he said, response to the appeal has been "very heartening."

The national chapter of the Red Cross will receive 46 per cent of the monies collected here and the remainder will remain in the county, the chairman remarked.

Boy, 4, Found Beaten To Death In Crib; Police Hunt Couple

Toledo, O., April 28 (AP)—A middle-aged couple was charged with first degree murder today in the death of four-year-old James Gleason.

The charge was filed against Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lehaney, both 41, in an affidavit signed by Detective Capt. Ralph Murphy, the boy was found dead in his crib last Friday morning, and Coroner Paul Hohly said he had been beaten to death.

The couple had been living with the dead boy's mother, Mrs. Virginia Gleason.

Murphy said Michigan state police had a report their car was seen last Saturday near Sturgis, Mich., heading north.

Murphy declared in his affidavit: "The couple did purposely, deliberately and with premeditated malice beat and kill James Lester Gleason, 4."

Lehaney, he said, served 14 months in the Mansfield reformatory in 1926-27 on a charge of auto theft and has since faced larceny and embezzlement charges.

The Lehaneyes were reported to have their 16-year-old daughter, Wilma, and adopted son, Gerald, 5, along.

Woman In Red Who Trapped Dillinger Dies In Romania

Bucharest, Romania, April 28 (AP)—"The woman in red," who led John Dillinger into an FBI trap that resulted in the killing of America's public enemy No. 1 in Chicago 13 years ago, died last Friday in a quiet town in southwestern Romania, the Timisoara newspaper Vestul said today.

Ana Campunas, known in the United States as Mrs. Anna Sage, was 58 years old at the time of her death and a legal autopsy showed that she had succumbed to a liver ailment.

Deported by the United States government in 1936, Mrs. Campunas returned to her native Romania where she made her home at Timisoara, leading the life of a well-to-do citizen.

Despite her relative opulence, the newspaper said, Mrs. Campunas maintained to the end of her life that U. S. federal authorities had "cheated" her out of the $70,000 reward for which, she contended, she had agreed to "put the finger" on Dillinger, whom she described as a former business associate. Her deportation was based on a conviction in Gary, Ind., of running a disorderly house.

She was credited with having pointed Dillinger out to FBI agents as he left a Chicago motion picture theater in 1934. Dillinger elected to battle it out with the G-men and was shot and fatally wounded. Mrs. Campunas earned her soubriquet of "the woman in red" on that occasion because of the costume she wore.

EUROPE NEEDS QUICK ACTION FOR RECOVERY

to have patience and not become pessimistic."

Time Big Factor

Then Marshall continued: "I sincerely hope that the generalissimo is correct in the view he expressed and that it implies a greater spirit of cooperation by the Soviet delegation in future conferences."

"But we can not ignore the factor of time involved here. The recovery of Europe has been far slower than had been expected. Disintegrating of forces are becoming evident. The patient is sinking while the doctors deliberate."

"So I believe that action can not await compromise through exhaustion. New issues arise daily. Whatever action is possible to meet these pressing problems must be taken without delay."

Marshall did not specify what these possible actions might be.

Marshall wound up his half-hour report over three national radio lookups with the advice that "the state of the world today and the position of the United States make mandatory, in my opinion, a unity of action on the part of the American people."

In a tribute to Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate foreign relations committee and Senator Connally (D-Tex.) for their bi-partisan Senate leadership on the $400,000,000 program of aid to Greece and Turkey, Marshall said that the unity of purpose in Washington was of "incalculable assistance to me in Moscow."

Five Problems Listed

Marshall reported in detail on the conference failure to agree on what he described as the critical and fundamental German problems:

1. The limits to the powers of a central government.
2. The character of the economic system and its relation to all of Europe.
3. The character and extent of reparations.

4. The boundaries for the German state.

5. The manner in which all Allied states at war with Germany are to be represented in the drafting and confirmation of the treaty.

Some of his sharpest criticism of Russia's course at the conference was in his report on the disagreement over German economy.

Marshall said that the Soviets had operated their occupation zone "practically without regard to the other zones" and had refused to disclose what foodstuffs were available and what reparations were removed.

He said the economic merger of the British and American zones was bitterly attacked by Soviet authorities as a breach of the Potsdam agreement and as a first step toward German dismemberment, "ignoring the plain fact that their refusal to carry out that agreement was the sole cause of the merger."

"It is difficult to regard their attacks as anything but propaganda designed to divert attention from the Soviet failure to implement the economic unity agreed to at Potsdam," Marshall continued. "Certainly some progress toward economic unity in Germany is better than none."

Marshall said that Soviet efforts to amend the American proposal for a four-power pact led him to conclude that Russia "either did not desire such a pact or was following a course calculated to delay any immediate prospect of its adoption."

Poland And Britain Sign Up Trade Pact For $232,000,000

London, April 28 (AP)—Poland and Great Britain have agreed to sign a $232,000,000 trade pact, it was disclosed today, and a British diplomat informant said the accord represented "a vast improvement in relations between the two countries."

A board of trade spokesmen who announced the agreement said under its terms Poland would accept an unfavorable balance in trade in exchange for a British decision to release $28,000,000 in Polish gold which it has held since the war.

The Polish government was reliably reported to have informed the Soviet Union of its intention to sign the agreement by conveying word directly to Prime Minister Stalin.

The pact with Britain would represent the first time a country within the Soviet sphere of influence had signed a major trade accord with one of the "Big Three" western powers.

250,000 Hatchery Trout Planted In U. P. Streams In '47

Approximately 250,000 legal size trout will be planted in Upper Peninsula rivers and streams this spring by the Michigan Department of Conservation, Paul Chalcian, of the department's educational division, told the Escanaba Lions club last evening at the Sherman hotel.

All of these fish will be fin-clipped and the department will particularly be interested in fishermen's reactions to these questions: Do hatchery-raised fish put up as good a scrap as the native variety, and do hatchery-raised fish taste as well as the native trout?

Chalcian declared that the hatchery trout costs an average of $1 per pound to produce which, he said, is offering trout fishermen a good return on their license fees.

The conservation official outlined the department's procedures on confiscated venison, guns, traps, etc., emphasizing that none of the officials benefit personally from such seizures resulting from game law violations.

Treasurer Spends Deaf Bowler Funds For Milwaukee Trip

Detroit, April 28 (AP)—Enos Cunningham, 32, was held under bond of $1,000 today on charges of embezzling $700 which members of a bowling league for the deaf had saved to send a team to a Milwaukee tournament.

He waived examination before Recorder's Judge W. Mc Kay Skillman, after promising to attempt to repay the funds. He was treasurer of the league.

Cunningham was arrested when he and his wife returned from a Western trip which detectives said was financed by the bowling funds.

The team made the Milwaukee trip on funds loaned by the Detroit Association for the Deaf.

Port Erie, Ont., April 28 (AP)—At least 12 Lake freighters were stuck in an ice jam off the entrance to the Buffalo Harbor breakwall opposite Fort Erie tonight and a United States Coast Guard icebreaker was en route from Cleveland to aid the ice-blocked ships.

WINS PRAISEHigh School Band And Leader Complimented
By Festival Judge

"Fine precision, very good tone and excellent interpretation," were terms used by the judge at Saturday's music festival at Escanaba in describing the performance of the Manistique high school band.

The judge, E. C. Moore, head of the music department of Appleton, Wis., schools, was unqualified in his praise of the local organization.

His criticism follows: "I enjoyed hearing your band again this year. The members played with fine precision and their tone was very good. Their interpretations were excellent. I like the clearness of your band's playing. The parts are well worked out and they play with a lot of spirit. You are to be complimented on a fine piece of work."

The Manistique band was one of sixteen bands participating in the program and played its numbers in the early afternoon. Two numbers were presented, "Mount Royal March" by McCaughy, and "Olympia Overture" by Zunicnik. During the morning, when soloists performed, Ray Norberg, of the Manistique band, played a trombone solo.

A concert in the evening was presented by a massed band made up of members of about 15 bands. There were about 500 boys and girls in this group. Manistique had

Wife Beater Gets Thirty Days In The County Jail

Earl Davenport, who lives at the Herick Cabin on Arbutus avenue, must spend the next 30 days in the county jail for beating his wife.

The jail sentence was imposed after he had pleaded guilty before Judge W. G. Stephens to a charge of having "beaten, bruised and wounded" his wife, Irene, at their cabin in the early hours of Monday morning.

A doctor's report of the injuries inflicted upon the woman, read in court, included: Contusions to the left foot, right hand, right cheek, forehead, contusions and abrasions of both eyes and a broken nose. Also brought in as evidence were several handfuls of hair.

"In the many years I have presided in this court, I have never seen anything as bad as this," said the judge.

Asked why he had done this, Davenport replied that his wife had said things that he simply couldn't stand.

"That is no excuse," said Judge Stephens, adding that too many men think that when they marry a woman they can do whatever they please with her. This, he said, should serve as a lesson to anyone who may entertain any such erroneous ideas.

Among those from Manistique who attended the band festival in Escanaba Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nelson and son, Joey, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Prime, Mr. and Mrs. William Mueller sr., Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hambeau and Mrs. Robert Curley.

Papers

Leonard Mulhaupt, counselor of veteran affairs, announces that his office has just received a supply of state veterans' bonus blanks to be used by veterans who have been service in the Navy, Marines or the Coast Guard.

Applicants who have been service in these branches, when they call at the office of veteran affairs in Manistique, should bring with them not only their discharge papers but their notice of separation from the service as well. Both will have to be certified on the application.

Mulhaupt says many veterans who made application in advance have left their discharge papers at the office and he is very anxious that they be returned to the owner at once. He states that the owners of these papers will have to call for them.

INDIAN LAKE
CLEAR OF ICELateness Of Spring
Thaw Believed To Be Record

Ice went out of Indian Lake Saturday afternoon.

While no data on early or tardy seasons in this area are available, this is regarded as about the latest season on record. The breakup was late and it was several weeks after the first real spring thaw that the ice began to move.

Regardless of the late season, resorters in the area are already getting their property ready for the season's rush which will, in all probability, be the heaviest in years and start fairly early as well.

Concessions at the Indian Lake State Park will be handled by Mrs. Robert Olson, wife of the concession department official in charge there. Mrs. J. H. Markham will be in charge of concessions at the Big Spring Park.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

Eskymo Nine Opens Eight-Game Season At Iron Mountain Today

STARTERS AS YET UNNAMED

Brayak, Schils May Be Battery For Curtain-Raiser

Having played only two games last season, the Escanaba high school baseball team will swing into an eight-game schedule this spring when they meet the Iron Mountain prep nine in the 1947 season opener at Iron Mountain this afternoon.

Games are scheduled to be played with Kingsford, Negaunee and St. Joseph's parochial school, Escanaba, in addition to Iron Mountain. The Eskymos will meet each in a home-and-home series.

Thirty-one candidates have been trying out for positions on the Eskymo team, and as yet no definite lineup has been determined.

Players Inexperienced
"With few exceptions, the men are inexperienced," Coach Jim Rouman said yesterday. "Only a very few had any training last year, and at that we played only two games, which doesn't constitute much actual work under fire."

"We won't name a starting lineup for this game today but will choose the starters before game time. When we see what they do under fire, then we'll have a better line on what to expect from the various players on the squad."

It appeared fairly certain, however, that Gordon Schils and Nick Brayak would compose the starting battery, Schils backstopping and Brayak doing the hurling. Ronald Sedenew will be ready for reserve duty at the plate, and Gilbert Prevost and Wayne Dugener are the two other hurlers with whom Coach Rouman has been drilling.

It's A Tossup
The choice for starter at first base is a tossup between Ronald Johnson and Duane Benard, at second between Jim Deane and Bob Kolb, at third between Wendell Buckland and Harold Pearson and at shortstop, between Dick Lough and Dick Pryal.

Outfielders will be chosen from the following: Bob Koneally, Matt Smith, Walter Flath, Gerald Dufour, Leonard Decent and Dick Barron.

Goldenstedt, who is regarded as the No. 1 skeet expert of the Upper Peninsula, will assist the committee in making all necessary arrangements for the festival competition. C. L. Tordeur is chairman of the committee.

The meeting will start at 7.

Off Tries Shakeout To Stir Giants Out Of Cellar Doldrums

New York, April 28 (P)—Disturbed by five straight defeats that left his New York Giants in a last-place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals, Manager Mel Ott today announced a drastic shakeup for tomorrow's series opener with the Cards.

Centerfielder Al White and Third Baseman Jack (Lucky) Lohrke will be benched, Bobby Thompson will move from second base to center field and Shortstop Billy Rigney will handle third base.

Buddy Blattner, a 1946 regular who has seen little action, will resume his old second base job and Buddy Kerr, who has been sidelined by ailments, will take over at shortstop.

Weisenburger Errs As Wolverine Nine Whips State Normal

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 28 (P)—Michigan batters slugged four Michigan State Normal College hurlers for 12 hits and a 14-7 victory over the Hurons in an erratic game here this afternoon.

The Wolverines made four runs on three hits, a walk, and a pair of errors in the first inning, added three tallies on three more hits, two walks and three misplays in the second, made five more in the fourth as 11 men batted and picked up two more in the eighth.

Shortstop Jack Weisenburger's three consecutive errors plus one hit and three walks gave the

Trout Hurls Five-Hit Ball, Raps Homer In Blanking Tribe, 3-0

Cleveland, April 28 (P)—The Cleveland Indians' new outfield fence was displayed for the first time today but Dirty Trout of the Detroit Tigers really fended 'n the Tribe by hurling a five-hit 3 to 0 shutout and slamming a home run.

The Tiger right-hander retired the side in order in five of the nine innings and drove in two of the three Bengal runs.

His third inning homer with none on sailed past the outfield fence and into the lower stands in left field. Trout dropped a single in center to send Pat Mullin in during a two-run Detroit rally in the eighth.

Red Embree allowed the Tigers only one run and three hits for six innings but weakened in the seventh and eighth when Detroit added its other two runs and five blows. Les Willis hurled the ninth after Embree retired for a pinch hitter.

The Indians threatened in the fourth and ninth. Dale Mitchell and Manager Lou Boudreau singled with one out in the fourth but Trout picked Mitchell off third for the second out and then forced Pat Seery to ground out. Seery walked and Joe Gordon singled with two out in the ninth and Dick Wakefield then backed tight against the left field fence to take Kane Keltner's long drive.

TRUCKS SUED FOR ASSAULT

Detroit Hurler Faces Charge Of Beating Up Hotel Man

Cleveland, April 28 (P)—Virgil Trucks, Detroit Tigers pitcher, today was sued for $32,500 damage in common pleas court here by Charles F. Heidler of Cleveland Heights.

Heidler charged he was beaten and kicked by Trucks in a Hotel Statler corridor here last Sept. 20. Heidler is an assistant manager at the Statler.

Trucks was reported to have remained in Detroit during the current Tigers-Indians series which ended today, but was unavailable for comment. He is slated to hurl the opener of a home series against Boston Tuesday.

General Manager Billy Evans, who joined the Detroit club this year, said he had never heard of the alleged incident last season and he and other Tiger officials declined comment.

Zale-Graziano Mixup Set For July 16--Maybe

Chicago, April 28 (P)—The "hot potato" middleweight title bout between Champion Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano will be Wrigley field on Wednesday, July 16—if it can hurdle a brewing state legislative challenge.

The Illinois Athletic commission today approved the date and the $4,000-capacity site for the much-discussed return bout between Zale and Rocky Graziano, who is under suspension in New York state for failing to report a $100,000 bribe offer.

The Illinois commission on April 18 sanctioned the bout, a natural, but unwanted in New York City where Zale got off the floor to retain his title against Graziano last September. Since then, the Chicago bout was drawn the fire of three Illinois state senators.

Zale in Chicago
The legislative trio on Wednesday will submit a resolution to the state Senate executive committee directing the Athletic commission to rescind its approval of the return brawl.

If the resolution is favorably received, the sponsors, including Peter J. Miller of Chicago, former commission secretary, will prepare a bill to ban an Illinois appearance by a fighter under suspension or suspicion in any other state.

The New York commission's suspension of Graziano, however, is not recognized by the National Boxing association of which Illinois is a member.
Zale already has opened training here for his title defense while Graziano is expected to set up camp soon. Their thrilling New York battle attracted a gross gate of $342,000 from 30,000 patrons.

Ducat Fees Reasonable
Irving Schoenwald, who with Arthur Wirtz, manager of the Chicago Stadium corporation, will promote the title scrap, told the commission today that price scales will be worked out at a later date.

Wirtz, when the bout first was approved, said he intended to keep the ducat fees at a reasonable level "for the average fan who pays the freight." A half-million dollar gate is regarded as a certainty at Wrigley field which has a baseball capacity of 45,000 and can be rigged for some 9,000 more for boxing.

Frank Schnese On Army Air Base Nine

Gladstone, April 28 (P)—Cpl. Frank Schnese is now playing third base with a nine at the Johnson Army Air base in Japan, according to a letter received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schnese, South Ninth street.
He had played, coached and refereed basketball during the winter months. He was a member of an Army team which lost the tournament finals by a single point.

Frank, it will be remembered, played basketball at center for Gladstone high previous to graduation and service.
He said the way it looked at present it would be about August before there was a possibility of leaving Japan for the states.

LOOKING FOR A STEPLADDER—That's Bob Schram, Escanaba VFW cager, in the center waving at the ball. He might well be looking for a stepladder to stop this shot made by Stubby Winters (five foot two) atop Long Gene Love (six foot four) in the All-American Red Head-Escanaba VFW game at the junior high gym here Saturday night. It was all part of the act, enjoyed heartily by an overflowing crowd of 1,000 fans. The Red Heads won, 45 to 43, after a hilarious evening. So popular were the lasses, that local basketball bigwigs assure the populace they'll be back again next season. The gentleman at the left is Roy Johnson and R. Gangstead came up along the right just in time to get into the act.

BEARS SCHEDULE DAILY PRACTICE

Escanaba Nine Will Work Out At 6:30 Each Evening

In preparation for their Rainbow Baseball league opener against Chatham here Sunday afternoon, May 18, the Escanaba Bears will practice each evening this week on the city diamond, Manager Joe Schwalbach announced last night. Practices will begin at 6:30.

Finally getting a favorable nod from the weatherman Sunday afternoon, the Bears held their first outdoor workout of the season. The slight snow flurry Sunday morning appeared to ring the curtain down on another scheduled outdoor practice but it cleared sufficiently to enable the Bears to get the kinks out in the afternoon.

"Much work remains to be done before the non-league opener against Bar River here Sunday afternoon, May 11, and we hope to be able to practice each evening this week," Manager Schwalbach said.

"All players are asked to be at the city diamond promptly at 6:30 ready to play. Positions are open, and anyone who wants to try out for the team is welcome to put in an appearance Tuesday evening."

Lakeside All Stars Win Over Centrals

Manistique, April 28 — Two juvenile teams, the All Stars, who attend Lakeside school, and the Cubs, from Central school crossed bats at the Central school diamond Sunday afternoon, with the result that the All Stars won by a score of 20 to 4. Home runs were made by Jack Stewart and Louis Bush for the All Stars. Tom Tyrrell and Bob Peterson were batteries for the Cubs and Jack Stewart and Louis Bush for the All Stars.

The Vets cleaned up last season, winning the American city loop title, the district cup, the city championship and going to the finals of the U. P. . . Tub-thumpers George LaCrosse and Joe Winters promise the Vets are as strong if not stronger than '46.

Rosters for all city league teams must be in by May 5 . . . The opening game is slated for May 11, and league play gets underway May 12 . . . Practice games are being played by most championship hopefuls this week . . . The Vets and Delta Hardwares played Sunday, and the Paper Mills and Vets will tangle this evening.

From last year's championship squad, the Vets have such dependable players as Paul and Dave Larson, Louis Kositzke, Jerome Deloria, Robert Boyle, Keith Morin, Clarence Grabowski, Mark Valind, Lyle Utt and Chuck Pelletier . . . And to back these diamond artists up, the VFW has acquired Joe Young, an outstanding shortstop who cavorted for the Granada Gardens last season; Joe Winters, former left fielder for the Birds Eye Veneer team, said to be one of the fastest men in softball in these parts, and Charley Woods, a catcher.

The Delta Hardwares, with B. Doucette, W. Doucette, B. Cavil, C. Soucy, R. Ether and Bertrand already in the lineup, have been bolstered by the addition of Mickey Kuchenberg, a mainstay of the Paper Mill ten last season . . . Both the Deltons and Vets are seeking more practice games with any team in the area.

ODDS AND ENDS: Gene Hesterberg represented Escanaba sportsmen at the recent release of 160 Hungarian partridges on Stonington peninsula. They were adult "Hunkies", about a year and a half old . . . Thanks to Leo J. Brunelle, Cloverland Baseball league commissioner, for supplying us with a 1947 league schedule . . . With Bark River, Hermannsville, Stephenson, Menominee, Wilson, Powers, Wallace, Daggett and Perronville competing in the Cloverland league play will be covered on the Press sports pages this season.

The first annual MHSAA Upper Peninsula summer coaches clinic has been established . . . It will be held at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, under the supervision of Athletic Director Charles B. Hedgecock, Aug. 11-15 . . . And two Big Nine coaching luminaries have been procured for the clinic staff: Alvin "B" McMillan, Indiana university grid mentor, who will teach football, and Dave MacMillan, Minnesota university coach, who will instruct in basketball . . . Upper Peninsula high school athletics will benefit greatly by this long overdue clinic.

With Quint Barbier, Ishpeming, at the controls, a big move is underway to organize a U. P. semi-professional football league to operate next fall . . . Taking a cue from last season's delayed ac-

AAU SANCTIONS MAY 5 BOUTS

Local Boxers To Work Out Tonight At Junior High

Official sanction of the Michigan AAU and the state athletic board of control for the amateur boxing program here Monday night, May 5, at the junior high school gymnasium was received here yesterday by the Escanaba Lions club boxing committee.

The boxing card will feature two complete programs. In one, the city recreation department will present the annual Silver Gloves show for lads under 16. This part of the program will include a dozen or more bouts of two one-minute rounds and will be timed so to be completed not later than 8:15 o'clock when the main show will swing into action.

The second phase of the program, which is the feature of the twin bill, will include include approximately 10 or more fast bouts with batters from Manistique, Escanaba, Marquette and possibly Munising and Marinette swinging against each other.

The Escanaba boxers, who have been working out three times a week for the past seven weeks, will accelerate their training pace this week and will work out nightly at the junior high school gym, at least through Thursday. All in these parts, are advised to report at 7:30 tonight at the gymnasium.

A change in the seating arrangement has been decided upon for this show and individual chair seats will be provided for the convenience of ringside customers. These seats will go on sale Wednesday morning at Gust Asp's in Escanaba and at Hackenbrach's in Manistique. There will only be a limited number of these seats, approximately 300.

Babe Overwhelmed, Rests After Ruth Day's Festivities

New York, April 28 (P)—Babe Ruth spent today at home, resting up after the excitement of yesterday's Babe Ruth Day at Yankee stadium.

Mrs. Ruth said that the former home run slugger's appearance at the ceremonies had proved very tiring to the Babe and that he "was completely overwhelmed" by the festivities.

A spokesman for Ruth's personal physician said he was running a slight temperature and seemed to be developing a slight cold.

Road Tests To Throw More Light On Major League Pennant Races

BY JACK HAND

New York, April 28 (P)—The chastened St. Louis Cardinals and unsteady Boston Red Sox open their first long road trips tomorrow with the fans eagerly awaiting the results of the initial intersectional tests for definite indications about the pennant races.

Feuding with sectional rivals may have resulted in some false values in the league standings, where the Dodgers and New York Yankees are setting the pace and the Cards languish in the National basement. Fourth place is an undignified position for the mighty Red Sox who ran away with the American league a year ago.

While the Dodgers have been feasting on the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies, just lik they did last season, the World Champs have had bumpy going against the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bums Eager For Cubs
Eddie Dyer's Cards have lost seven of nine, five in succession, facing a near-steady diet of southpaw pitching. In the 14 games they will play in the east, starting tomorrow against their fellow cellmates, the New York Giants, they are certain to see more left-handers.

Stan Musial's hitting failures and the continued absence of Terry Moore have been contributing factors in the Cards' defeats, four of which have been suffered at the hands of the Chicago Cubs.

After the Polo Grounds set, the R-birds hit Philadelphia and Boston before they come to Ebbets Field for three games with the Dodgers.

Chicago opens in Brooklyn, where the flock has yet to lose in seven starts. Manager Burt Shotton's charges are eager to test their strength against their old feuding partners, the Cubs, who are in second place with a four-game win string.

Even A's Troublesome
The Cincinnati Reds, which beat Pittsburgh twice yesterday, will be at Boston where the Braves are rallying from a disappointing start.

Hank Greenberg and the Pittsburgh Pirates start their trip in Philadelphia's Shibe Park, eager to solidify their fine early showing with a successful tour.

The New York Yankees, who took Boston two out of three in their first meeting, have shown enough to be rated as a real threat as they face their first big test.

Muddy Ruel's Browns, shut out in four of their first 10 starts, draw the Yanks as the first eastern visitor while the Red Sox open in Detroit.

As Manager Joe Cronin pointed out earlier, his club had the tremendous advantage of a long home stand early last year when it was red hot, now the situation is reversed.

Cleveland's new deal has promoted the Indians into second place on the eve of the first visit from the Philadelphia A's who have proven more troublesome than usual.

Washington will be at Chicago, faced with the necessity for snatching out of a batting slump. Ted Lyons' White Sox are off winging and eager to prove their right to a first division berth.

Stories Of Michigan

The Woman Who Waited

BY A. F. KELLEY

Candlelight gleamed softly on the heavy silverware, smiling people chatted and nodded to each other over the long dinner table, soft music played in the background. The scene was a party during the middle of the nineteenth century.

The hostess, beautiful wife of the distinguished Michigan historian, Henry R. Schoolcraft, rose from her chair, and the other ladies in the party, following Mrs. Schoolcraft's cue, rose too, and strolled into the living-room where they settled down to enjoy coffee and to continue their pleasant visiting. The men remained behind for their cigars and beverages.

In the elaborate living-room, Mrs. Schoolcraft endeavored to make her guests feel at ease. Everyone seemed comfortable except one quiet woman who had lately moved to Michigan from Boston. When Jane Schoolcraft spoke to her however, the woman smiled in warm appreciation, and responded quickly. "This is beautiful countryside," she said, glancing out of one of the long windows, "but I am so frightened of the Indians. I worry about them continually." Her eyes searched nervously among the pines and spruce trees outside.

Jane Schoolcraft nodded gently. "Let me tell you an interesting story about the Ojibway Indians, something which happened just before the end of the last century—about 1796."

The stranger and the rest of the women in the room most of whom were familiar with Mrs. Schoolcraft's brilliance and considerable charm, listened attentively. Even though most of them had heard the story before, they followed the cultured voice of their hostess with pleasure.

"In those years," Mrs. Schoolcraft related, "a bright and courageous man who had been born in Antrim county, Ireland, came to Canada, full of excitement at the possibilities of this new continent. Although his mother was a sister of Bishop Sauvign of Dromore and of the Attorney General of Ireland, John Johnston felt that real opportunity lay in this land. He traveled from Canada to Michigan, stopping at Sault Ste. Marie, and decided to establish a trading-post at LaPointe at the head of St. Mary's river. Soon after he settled here, he met the chief of the Ojibways who was named Wabagoie which means White Fisher. This powerful and well-known chief had a daughter, lovely and talented, and John Johnston fell deeply in love with this princess. The princess who was named Osha-gus-co-day-way-gua (The Woman of the White Mountain) blushed whenever she saw the brave adventurer, and knew that her heart belonged to him.

"White Fisher, however, was wise and prudent, and when John Johnston said 'Allow me to marry your daughter, sir—we love each other,' White Fisher said, 'No, I know more of life than you. Go back to your native land, and seek a bride there.'"

"So John Johnston said farewell, and went back across the ocean to the Emerald Isle. Before he left, however, he whispered to the princess, 'I will do as your father says—I shall look for a bride among my own people. But it is you I love, and I shall never be happy without you.'"

"Months passed. The Indian maiden often watched the stars at lone at night and looked across the waters of the lake, thinking of the man whom she loved, and wondering whether he ever remembered her. One day word came that Johnston was coming back to his trading post. The maiden waited, holding her breath, wondering how she would feel when she saw a blue-eyed pretty bride clinging to the arm of the trader.

"He is coming, he is coming!" a scout cried, running into the camp. The princess waited, outwardly calm, but breathless within, straining her eyes to catch the first glimpse of the white man. Pride would not let her ask whether there was any news of a pale-face woman with him. White Fisher who sat near her, waiting too, looked compassionately toward his daughter triumphantly. He knew that this was best.

"But when John Johnston came, he came alone, at a rapid pace, walking straight to the maiden, and he turned to her father and said, 'This is the one for whom I have searched.' The chief gave his consent without further objection, and a happy, lasting marriage took place." As Mrs. Schoolcraft concluded her story, she saw that the woman looked calmer.

"What a romantic story," the woman exclaimed, "but is it really true?"

"Oh, yes," the beautiful and capable Mrs. Schoolcraft replied. "You see, it is the story of my father and mother."

ORE DEPOSITS WANE, CLAIM

Mine Bureau Sees End
Of Mesabi Range
In 16 Years

Washington, D. C.—Lake Superior iron ore deposits may be exhausted in 8 to 20 years, according to statistics released by the federal bureau of mines.

Based on known reserves and the 1945 rate of production, the figures show a theoretical life of 16 more years for the Mesabi range. They show Mesabi reserves of 962,290,748 gross tons and 1945 production of 58,365,139 tons of ore containing over 5 per cent manganese.

Figures for other ranges are: Cuyuna Range—Reserve, 69,659,027 tons; production, 4,664,816 tons; life, 11 years.

Vermilion Smallest
Menominee Range—Reserve, 48,260,754 tons; production, 4,140,239 tons; life, 12 years.

Gogebic Range—Reserve, 31,828,392 tons; production, 4,395,653 tons; life, nine years.

Vermilion Range—Reserve, 12,349,908 tons; production, 1,481,607 tons; life, eight years.

In addition, the bureau reports reserves of state or of 19,863,715 tons.

The figures are contained in a letter from the director of the bureau of mines to Charles A. MacHenry, Cape Vincent, N. Y., chairman of the seaway committee of the Northern Federation of Chambers of Commerce.

Larger Than Mesabi
MacHenry is a leader in the fight for the St. Lawrence seaway project. He asserts that steel and allied industries in the Great Lakes region must have more than 60,000,000 tons of iron ore a year. To keep these industries from moving to the coasts when the Lake Superior ranges are exhausted, MacHenry's committee declares that the seaway must be built to bring in iron ore from Labrador, only one-fourth farther from Cleveland than the Lake Superior ranges.

The committee claims that the Labrador deposits are larger and richer than the Mesabi range was when it was discovered.

Cirrhosis Patients Given New Lease

Chicago—A new treatment for cirrhosis of the liver which seems to give the patients a new lease on life by restoring their appetite is reported by Drs. Daniel H. Labby, Robert E. Shank, Henry G. Kunkel and the late Charles L. Hoagland of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in the forthcoming Journal of the American Medical Association, published here.

The treatment consists of injections into the veins, two or three times a week, of a crude liver extract. The survival rate at the end of two years in the patients given this treatment was 77 per cent compared with 45 per cent among patients treated by diet and vitamin supplements and 22 per cent to 25 per cent untreated patients.
